

(a) and (b) compute exactly the same function; their landscapes differ only through the coordinates.